THE MANAGER

DOUGIE FREEDMAN

Last Saturday's result against Brighton was another disappointment in our sequence of away performances this season.

I thought that we looked reasonably comfortable in the first half and took a lead through some opportunism at a set play.

At half time we felt that Brighton would play with a higher tempo in the second half, but we also felt confident that we would be able to cope with that. Unfortunately, when we lost the first goal our concentration went, and not for the first time this season we conceded in quick succession.

This is something we have to urgently address. We have worked hard on a strategy to cope with that problem this week and hopefully improve concentration levels at these key points in games.

Goals change games, but in our case to far too great an extent.

A word about our style of play; in our time at the club we have attempted to evolve a passing-style based on midfield rotation, inter-change of position and a more patient approach in contrast to previous years. We managed to implement that in the closing months of last season, but so far this season we have failed to do it for any significant length of time in games.

Basically, we do not retain the ball long enough in the attacking half and consequently the pressure on the defence is too great and we find ourselves unable to cope. That problem has to be addressed, starting today, but whilst still retaining our style of play.

As a manager I inherited a similar situation at my previous club, albeit later in the season. That experience has taught me to stay calm, focussed and most of all to show leadership whilst managing the club.

In a situation like this the players, staff, fans and board have to look to me to lead us out of the trouble we're in. I can assure everyone that I am totally motivated to do so. But we'll also need everyone to show total commitment to the cause all of the time.

I appreciate the patience and the tolerance of the supporters in a poor sequence of results. Please extend that support into our game today, which is obviously vital to us moving off the foot of the table.

I'd like to extend a warm welcome to the players, supporters and staff of Yeovil Town.

With respect, to get a club the size of Yeovil promoted to the Championship in this day and age is one of the managerial performances of recent years. Gary Johnson, Terry Skiverton and staff have done a wonderful job.

Yeovil's success has been based on spirit and organisation and we need to match their enthusiasm and energy today.

If we can do that and stay focused then we may have enough quality to get the right result today.

Enjoy the game.

ZATKNIGHT

Good afternoon and welcome back to the Reebok Stadium for today's game against Yeovil Town.

We are obviously going through a difficult time at the moment and we need to turn the corner quickly.

It wasn't our day at Brighton last weekend, we were 1-0 up at half time and I thought we looked confident going into the break.

We didn't perform the way that we wanted to do in the second half and on reflection they were the better team on the day and deserved all three points.

It is a frustrating time, even as I write my column for today's game I am frustrated talking about how poor our results have been because we should be better.

It does sometimes take longer for a team to find their form or to get the ball rolling but we have had more than enough time and we don't want to keep on saying time and time again that it is going to happen, we need to make it happen.

We need to turn the corner now because we have a lot of games coming up and before we know where we are it will be Christmas.

We need to put what has happened so far this season into the past and concentrate on the future.

We have dusted ourselves down and we are ready to go again this afternoon against Yeovil Town.

We know it will be a difficult game, I spoke to my friend Shaun Wright-Phillips earlier this week after QPR's game at Yeovil and he told me they are a very good side.

It will be another huge week for the club with three games inside the next seven days before the international break and we want to take maximum points away.

We will take each game as it comes starting with Yeovil Town before back to back away matches at Blackpool and Birmingham City respectively.

Thanks again for your support.

THE BIG INTERVIEW

ANDRE MORITZ

The Brazilian playmaker explains to the club's matchday programme how his family expected him to be a doctor

ONE ON ONE

WITH ANDRE MORITZ

Having enjoyed spells in Brazil and Turkey so far in his career, Andre Moritz is hoping that his continental expertise can help Wanderers make their mark on the Sky Bet Championship during the current campaign.

Born and raised in the Brazilian city of Florianópolis, the 27-year-old joined the Whites from Premier League outfit Crystal Palace last summer, but is currently on the Reebok treatment table after sustaining a groin injury last week.

Eyebrows were raised at the Brazilian's decision to swap the capital for the North West given Palace's Play-Off Final success, but Moritz is adamant that he has made the perfect move.

"I was really comfortable at Palace, but at the same time I need to think of my career," he explained.

"Of course, I had really good friends over there and it was like a family, but at 27, I wanted to play.

"It wouldn't have been right to stay at Palace and be happy that I was in the Premier League, because I would not have been playing - I could be there right now, but I would be sitting on the bench because the gaffer told me that I wouldn't have too much game time."

Having worked briefly under Freedman during his early days at Palace, Moritz confessed that it was the manager's management style that made his decision to join Wanderers a no-brainer.

"When I decided to leave Palace, my first option straight away was Bolton because I'd worked with the gaffer and I know how he goes about things," he said. "I was only working with him for three or four months, but it was the first time that I was learning as a player.

"You'll always learn tactics under any manager, but when the gaffer gives you something that you put in your game, you improve and that is what happened with him - I wanted to work under him again to help me become a better footballer."

Someone who undoubtedly incorporates his roots into his playing style, Moritz's Brazilian flair on the pitch stems back to his youth with the midfielder having spent most of his childhood playing futsal - a five-side version of the game which is played indoors and encourages maximum creativity.

From the outset his talent was clear to see, with Brazilian side Avaí inviting him to join their academy at the age of 15 before a move to his local side Internacional saw him secure his professional contract and make his first team debut.

A lifelong ambition fulfilled for the youngster, Moritz admitted that it wasn't exactly plain sailing in his bid to become a professional footballer given that his father had made no secret of his hopes for his son's future.

"I come from family of doctors - my father and three older brothers are all doctors. They were all very good with their studies and are so smart that I actually wonder if I came from that family!

"It was hard for my father. He has four kids, three of them are doctors like him and he had his youngest telling him that he wanted to become a footballer.

"When I was old enough though, I could make my own choices and it was my choice to become a footballer."

With a professional contract secured, his decision to pursue his dreams had well and truly been vindicated, but fate wasn't finished with Moritz quite yet.

Many youngsters harbour hopes of playing for their childhood club one day, but that dream became a reality in 2006 as he was signed by Fluminense – a move which gave him some of the greatest moments of his career to date.

“After growing up supporting them, it seemed as though it was destiny when I ended up playing there – I also ended up scoring a really important goal for them,” he said.

“We were fighting not to be relegated, and I ended up scoring the goal that won us the game and we stayed in the league, and in the next season we won the Brazilian Cup.

“Being a champion and being known by the supporters, for me, is up there with the best memories I have ever had in my life.”

Having proven his worth, it was evident that Moritz's ability warranted a move to a bigger stage with a number of suitors interested in signing the youngster during the summer of 2007, but it was to be the lure of the Istanbul that would draw him away from his homeland as he signed for Turkish side Kasimpa.

I wanted to work with the manager again

**“
Playing at Wembley in a game like that is a one-time opportunity

"At the time I just wanted to be involved in Europe and I knew Turkey could be a door to get into European football," he admitted. "I enjoyed my time over there, but I went there to improve me as a player as well and to have a new experience in my life as well and to see what football was like outside of Brazil."

"The Turkish league is a strong league – you play against unbelievable players, earn a good wage and it was a really good experience for me."

Following a three year spell with the Süper Lig outfit, Moritz went on to enjoy spells with their rivals Kayserispor and Mersin İdmaniyuru before an ill-fated experience with Scottish giants Rangers in the summer of 2012.

With confusion over the terms of his trial, Moritz decided to look elsewhere and was handed the opportunity to join Crystal Palace shortly before the end of the transfer window – a move which eventually lead to the midfielder's first visit to Wembley Stadium.

"Playing at Wembley in a game like that is a one-time opportunity," he enthused. "We talked before the game and we were all so happy to be there, but then you see 82,000 people in a stadium and you cannot even talk to someone five yards away."

"We just looked at each other before kick-off and said 'Let's make history', and we did. If you ask the Palace fans in ten years, who was the squad that won at Wembley, they will know, but if you ask the Watford fans the same question, they won't."

"Only winning teams are remembered. As a player who came from Brazil, to reach the Play-Off final in my first season in England was really nice for my career."

Having written his name into the history books within twelve months of landing on British soil, Moritz makes no secret of his desire to enjoy similar times with his new team mates. "It's a pleasure to be here at a massive club like Bolton Wanderers - I've said since the first day that I got here that we have a great group – all the players really welcomed me and now I just have my apartment so I'm starting to get used to the north of England!"

BRAVE JACK LEADS THE LINE

Wanderers fan Jack Powell marked his remarkable recovery from illness by leading out the team against Derby County on Tuesday evening.

Back in September 2011 at the tender age of just six, Jack (pictured in the home kit) was rushed to Bolton Hospital unconscious after collapsing at home with suspected meningitis, with a head scan revealing that he had suffered a large bleed on his brain.

The youngster underwent a number of operations in the years that followed and at one point was given just a 50% chance of survival, but has thankfully gone on to make a full recovery.

Now back to full health, Jack is already playing football with Horwich RMI as well as being set to return to the club's Friday Night Football sessions where he was a regular prior to falling ill.

Harrington in charge

Referee Tony Harrington will take charge of today's game between Wanderers and Yeovil Town.

Hailing from Cleveland in the North East of England, Harrington has been refereeing since 2009 and has taken charge of five games so far this season in League One and Two, with his last match being Morecambe's 2-1 victory over Plymouth Argyle last month.

Although Harrington has never refereed a first team Wanderers game, he was the man in the middle for the club's U21 clash with Hull City back in February 2010 where the Tigers ran out 2-1 winners at the County Ground.

David Richardson and James Wilson will run the line, whilst Richard Bartlett will be the fourth official.

Eaves makes Millers bow

Two Bolton Wanderers players were in action for their respective loan clubs last weekend. Marvin Sordell appeared as a second half substitute in Charlton Athletic's 1-0 home defeat against Millwall.

In League One, Tom Eaves made his debut for Rotherham in their 1-1 draw away at Walsall. The striker's loan to the Millers had been confirmed only hours before kick-off and he came on from the bench to play the final 22 minutes at the Bescot Stadium.

North of the border Gary Fraser was an unused substitute for Partick Thistle in a 1-1 draw with Kilmarnock.

This weekend, Sordell and his Addicks team mates face a trip to Lancashire to play Burnley whilst youngster Eaves gets set to face Darren Ferguson's Peterborough United.

Meanwhile, Keith Andrews, who was ineligible to play against Bolton last weekend for Brighton & Hove Albion, looks set for a return this weekend for the Seagulls as they Ipswich Town at Portman Road.

FACILITY AVAILABLE AFTER THE FINAL WHISTLE

Supporters can take advantage of the club's post-match FanZone facility.

In addition the usual pre-game set-up which will be open from midday, fans can now enjoy a drink and a bite to eat in the spacious Premier Suite after the final whistle with a number of offers available.

Alongside this there will also be entertainment on offer in the form of newly signed band Kassoma, making FanZone the perfect place to avoid the post-match traffic.

Please note that FanZone is for home supporters only, with a valid match ticket being required for entry.

Dougie Freedman on bwfc.co.uk

"We just need to keep on working hard, but there's certainly suggestions there that we're more than capable of winning football matches in this division."

Chris Eagles on bwfc.co.uk

"It's a shame really because you can see how much it meant to us when we scored, but with their two goals we went to sleep again on the defensive side. Credit to the lads though, we bounced back and I think overall it was a good performance but lacking a result."

Derby manager Nigel Clough on BBC Sport

"I'm delighted with the performance and the manner in which we went about the game. It was a setback going one-nil down early on, but the way we came back and the way in which we played was especially pleasing."

41 – Chris Eagles pulls Wanderers back onto level terms just before the break with an impressive 25-yard strike.

77 – David Ngog almost hands Bolton a winning goal, but his header from close range flies narrowly past the post.

Dougie Freedman on bwfc.co.uk

"We are lacking in confidence at the moment and when Brighton scored their first goal you could see a lack of focus. I understand exactly what we have to do, we have to keep working and we have to put in a performance for 90 minutes."

Marc Tierney on theboltonnews.co.uk

Oscar Garcia on www.seagulls.co.uk

TIME TO GIVE THE CROWD SOMETHING TO SHOUT ABOUT

Marc Tierney is looking for Bolton Wanderers to put in a solid 90 minute performance this afternoon against Yeovil Town and claim three valuable points.

A 3-1 defeat away at Brighton & Hove Albion last week-end left the full back eager to ensure Wanderers taste victory when they clash with the Glovers at the Reebok Stadium today.

Speaking ahead of the first ever league meeting between the two sides, the former Norwich full back explained how the Wanderers team need to be brave and stand up to the challenges the Championship present.

"Everyone was bitterly disappointed. To go from a position of leading at half time to not withstand the pressure we knew would come in the second half is frustrating.

"Everyone is committed to putting things right – we have all spoken about it and had a good long talk.

"We need a win today and then another because only back-to-back wins can get us out of this predicament.

"You look at a club of our stature and history and the players we have in the dressing room and the manager and we shouldn't be where we are.

"We are a better team than our position and we are better players than what we have showed. Football is a test of confidence and we need some right now.

"We need to put everything else aside and be big and brave because we are men at the end of the day.

"We need to put on a 90 minute performance in these next few games coming up to put some confidence back into the side.

"We have to have confidence to get on the ball and play. We cannot shy away from these things, this is what we do as a job and as a profession and people pay to come and see us be professional."

Signed from Norwich City during the summer, the club's supporters have quickly warmed to the 28-year-old full back, who openly admits that Wanderers' performances are not acceptable.

Hoping that three sides of the Reebok Stadium go away pleased this evening, the local lad is adamant the Whites will soon rectify their season.

"We have given the crowd absolutely nothing to shout about so far and we need the supporters to go away happy this evening. We need the fans on our side by playing well.

"I understand their frustration because they pay good money to come and watch good football. They have been used to very good sides at Bolton and we need to show team spirit to give them another.

"I can assure them it hurts us as players as well to see where we are. We empathise with the fans entirely, we went to Brighton to put on a good show and win the game and at half time it was going well.

"It is not acceptable from our side and as players we take the responsibility and we look to rectify it against Yeovil Town.

"We will take the game to Yeovil this afternoon and look to get out of this situation as soon as possible with two games inside four days, with Blackpool next up on Tuesday night."

UNDER18s

Bolton Wanderers U18s will be targeting their first three points of the season today as they face a trip to the capital to face Arsenal at London Colney.

David Lee's youngsters will be looking to get back on the right road after last weekend's 4-1 defeat against Fulham at Lostock, with French striker Moussa Dembele hitting a hat trick for the visitors.

The Baby Whites have faced a difficult start to the 2013/14 campaign having competed against the likes of Tottenham and Aston Villa so far.

With the season only five games old, Lee explained to the Wanderers match day programme that he was pleased with his team's second half display against Fulham after a slow start.

"We have to hold our hands up and admit that in the first half Fulham were better than us in many departments," said the former Bolton Wanderers winger.

"I had a good chat with the players at half time along with Sammy Lee and we altered one or two things. We looked for a reaction from the players and we played with a lot more intensity in the second half.

"Individual players had to play at a higher intensity in order to affect the game in a positive way. The good thing about it was that the players performed a lot better in the second half.

"It was a great learning curve for all the players because when you are playing against strong teams like Fulham then you cannot afford to slack and have no intensity at the start of the game.

"Fulham have some quality football players and after the game I spoke to their Academy manager Steve Wigley and he has high hopes for a lot of his players and expects one or two to be involved with the first team before the end of the season.

"However, Fulham's quality doesn't take away the fact that our players have a job that they need to do. We have to make sure our players do things right.

"It is our job to make sure our players are ready to play at their maximum potential and the only way they will get better is by playing games and training day in day out.

"When the players make mistakes and concede goals it is important that they learn from those mistakes so they can rectify them next time.

"But come the following week they will make a mistake in a different element of the game and it will be another learning curve for them. As long as they keep on absorbing information they will become better players. Every game throws up new scenarios, they are challenged in both matches and every day in training.

"A lot of our players are only three months into their football so there is a lot of long term development to go. The players are always showing glimpses that they are improving and getting better."

For Lee and his players their attention is now set on getting a positive result against Arsenal, a game which the U18s coach admits will be a difficult challenge but one that they are relishing.

"Arsenal are a team that play quick attacking football," explained Lee. "Arsenal have flair and pace and it is up to our players to adapt their game and facilitate what comes up in front of them.

"The facilities are fantastic and it is another environment the players won't have visited before and hopefully what they have learned this week and from the last game will help them today."

DEVELOPMENT SQUAD

The Whites were comfortable from start to finish against Rovers as they claimed their first win of the 2013/14 campaign.

The first chance of the match arose in the 14th minute when Blackburn full back Darragh Lenihan cut inside from the right hand side to hit a powerful strike down the throat of Jay Lynch, but the Wanderers keeper was on hand to beat away.

One minute later, Wanderers went one better than their counterparts and found the back of the net courtesy of a superb team move which was stylishly finished off by Clough from inside the penalty box.

The east Lancashire outfit were only a fraction away from equalising five minutes later as John O'Sullivan hit a free-kick over the frame from 25-yards out.

Bolton stood strong at the back for the remainder of the first half, with Rovers causing little threat in attack and were limited to half chances by the Wanderers back line.

At the other end of the pitch, Jamie Fullerton's side created a further two goal scoring opportunities before referee Steve Copeland blew his whistle for half time, but Tom Youngs and Conor Wilkinson were both unable to put David Raya to test.

Five minutes into the second half and former Millwall centre forward Wilkinson doubled the Whites' advantage. Timing his run to perfection, the 18-year-old escaped his marker to slide the ball home after a low cross from Chris Lester.

Looking for a quick response, the visitors hit the crossbar from an acute angle in the 54th minute courtesy of number nine Dean Rittenberg.

However, despite a brief spell of Rovers possession, culminating in a couple of half chances, it was the hosts who found the net once again in the 62nd as Clough claimed a brace with a deflected shot from the edge of the box which left goalkeeper Raya rooted to the spot.

The hosts went on to comfortably see out the remainder of the contest and secure all three points against their near neighbours.

Wanderers U21s are again in action next Monday as they face Manchester United in the Manchester Senior Cup, 7pm kick-off at the County Ground.

BEYOND THE 90

Charity begins at Home

It is often said that charity begins at home – a phrase which is often misused.

Behind the scenes here at the Reebok, as a staff team we look to raise money for nominated charities each season. This is in addition to the public requests we make through the season for you, the fans, to support various charities that we have signed up.

Not a day goes without me receiving a request for Bolton Wanderers to support a charity, good cause or a community group. Often the requests come with heartfelt personal stories regarding a loved one suffering with a challenging illness, with a recurring theme being that those are suffering from some kind of cancer.

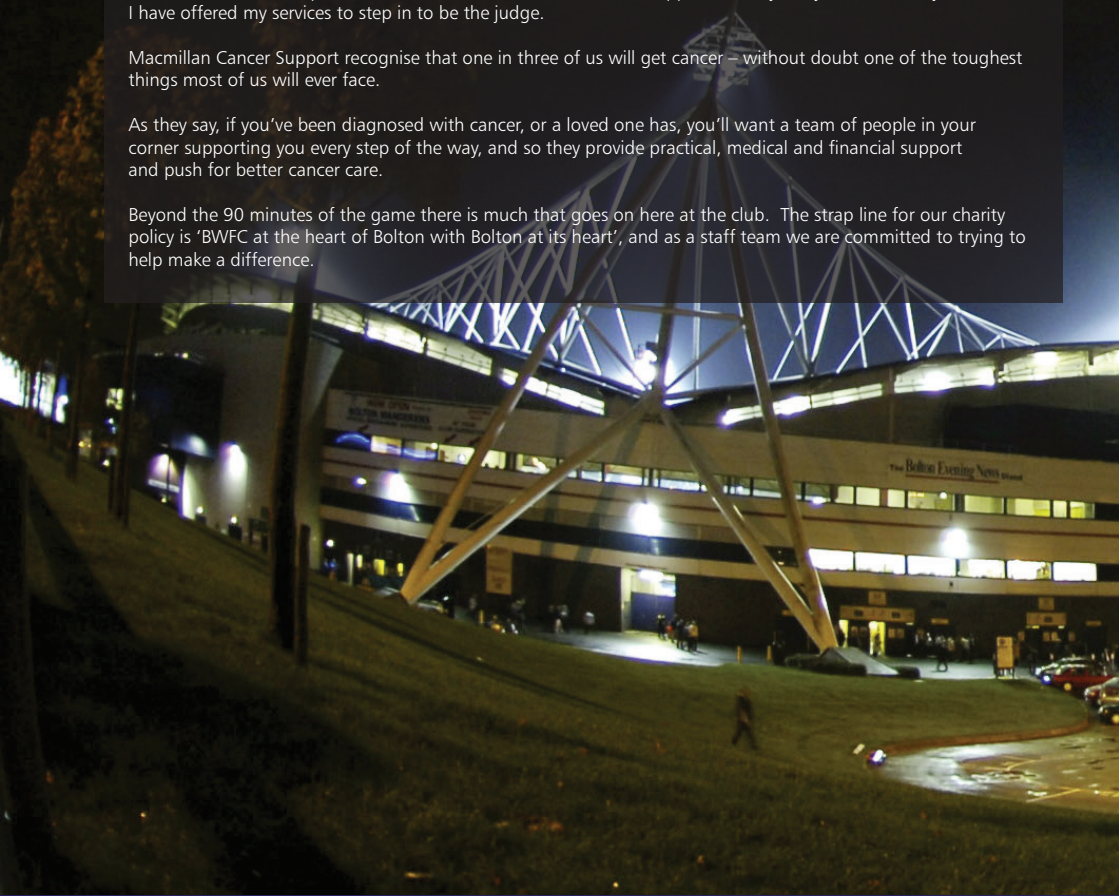

We are therefore kicking off this season's staff fundraising with an event on Monday 30th September which will be known as the 'Great Bolton Bake Off', with cakes that are made and donated being sold to the staff at the club and playing team for Macmillan Cancer Support.

It is not without a completion element attached and without the support of Mary Berry and Paul Hollywood, I have offered my services to step in to be the judge.

Macmillan Cancer Support recognise that one in three of us will get cancer – without doubt one of the toughest things most of us will ever face.

As they say, if you've been diagnosed with cancer, or a loved one has, you'll want a team of people in your corner supporting you every step of the way, and so they provide practical, medical and financial support and push for better cancer care.

Beyond the 90 minutes of the game there is much that goes on here at the club. The strap line for our charity policy is 'BWFC at the heart of Bolton with Bolton at its heart', and as a staff team we are committed to trying to help make a difference.

#WEAREBOLTON

In our sixth edition of the match day programme, we speak to loyal Wanderers fan Ryan Taylor from Leigh as he takes part in our popular questionnaire, #WEAREBOLTON

Ryan looks back on the club's two European adventures and explains why South Korean winger Chung Yong Lee will always have a place in his heart after his heroics in the Midlands in 2011.

Why are you a Bolton fan?

I am a Bolton Wanderers supporter mainly due to my family. All of my family have supported Bolton so it was the only choice! I also think the fact that it is local had a big impact as it was easy to get to games, and also I feel that the values and the idea of being a family club helped in making me and my family Bolton fans.

What was the first game you attended?

The FA Cup draw with Blackburn at the Reebok in the season both teams went up to the Premier League. I was hooked ever since due to the atmosphere of the ground and I have attended many more since that day.

What are your memories of supporting Bolton?

I have a lot of good memories supporting Bolton! Being able to watch players like Jay Jay Okocha and Yuri Djorkaeff was a joy.

The run to Wembley to get to the FA Cup semis was eventful, most memorable moment of that run has to be Chung Yong Lee's last minute header against Birmingham City at St Andrews.

More fond memories are the two UEFA Cup campaigns, getting results against Bayern Munich and Atletico Madrid which will be remembered by our fans for the rest of their lives.

A personal experience for me has to be doing my work experience at Bolton and meeting the squad and players!

VISITORS

The only Somerset club in the Football League, the Glovers are playing at Championship level for the first time in the club's 118 year history this season.

The Whites have never faced Yeovil in the league before but have beaten them on two occasions in cup competitions, the most recent being a 2-0 victory at Huish Park in 2004 where goals from Julio Cesar and ensured Wanderers' progression into the third round of the Carling Cup.

Yeovil fans will certainly be familiar with Bolton forward Craig Davies and the threat which he poses, with the striker having made four appearances for the club whilst on loan there in 2009.

The Glovers reached the second tier of English football through the Play-Offs last season, defeating Brentford who had been set for automatic promotion to the second tier, only to slip up on the final day of the season.

This scenario had certainly looked unlikely earlier on in the campaign, when a club record six defeats in a row left Yeovil fans fearing a relegation scrap.

Their fortunes were reversed however with a another club record, eight wins on the bounce, and a late Ed Upson winner against Sheffield United in the Play-Off semi-finals paved the road to Wembley where Yeovil stormed to a two goal lead before half-time and were then forced to withstand heavy pressure from Brentford.

Although the London club halved the deficit through Harlee Dean early in the second half, they were unable to breach the Glovers' defence for a second time, sending the Yeovil fans into raptures at the final whistle.

The Huish Park outfit managed to hold onto their key players during the summer, most notably Paddy Madden whose 23 league goals earned him the accolade of League One Player of the Year last season.

The club has also kept hold of manager Gary Johnson, under whom the Glovers have averaged a promotion every 18 months.

Another promotion this season would be optimistic however, with staying in the division a more likely objective given the club's minimal expenditure in the recent transfer window.

The club's season certainly got off to the best possible start with Ed Upson securing an opening day win at Millwall, but the four League defeats that followed have left the Glovers languishing in the lower reaches of the Sky Bet Championship table.

CLUB CREST

STAR MAN

With last season's top goalscorer Paddy Madden unlikely to feature today, much of Yeovil's drive will need to come from Ed Upson with the midfielder having developed a knack of scoring important goals for the Glovers of late.

Currently the club's top scorer this campaign with two goals to his name including a last minute winner against Millwall on the opening day of the season, Wanderers will have to be on their guard to keep him the midfielder at bay.

The 23-year-old started his career at Ipswich Town as a youngster, spending brief loan spells at Stevenage and Barnet before joining Yeovil in 2010.

Upson, born in Bury St Edmunds, made his Glovers debut on the opening day of the 2010/11 season in Town's 2-1 defeat away at Bristol Rovers.

Since then, Upson has started over 100 games for the club in all competitions and scored a vital goal for Yeovil in the League One Play-Off semi finals against Yorkshire giants Sheffield United at Huish Park.

Looking to establish himself in the second tier of English football, Upson looks a certain starter for Town this afternoon at the Reebok.

THE BOSS

Gary Johnson will be hoping to celebrate his birthday with a win as the Yeovil boss turns 58 today.

Johnson led Town to the Championship through the Play-Offs back in May in his first full season back at Huish Park, having spent four years with the club in the early 2000s where he tasted two successful promotion campaigns.

The Glovers thrived under Johnson during his first spell, entering the Football League for the first time in their history under his leadership in 2003 and gaining promotion to League One before losing their manager to Bristol City two years later.

He enjoyed a successful stint at Ashton Gate which peaked with the Bristol club reaching the Play-Off Final in 2008 where they suffered a 1-0 defeat at the hands of Hull City at Wembley, who were then managed by former Bolton Wanderers defender Phil Brown.

Two more years in the Championship followed before the former midfielder left the Robins by mutual consent in 2010, going on to have less successful spells with Peterborough and Northampton before returning to Huish Park in 2012.

However Johnson quickly settled back into the Yeovil Town hot seat and he guided the club to their third promotion in ten years, and will always be remembered as a club legend in Somerset.

Alongside his own exploits in management, Johnson's son Lee followed in his father's footsteps when he became the youngest manager in the Football League at the age of 31 after taking charge of Oldham Athletic, who ply their trade in League One.

HISTORY

Yeovil Town Football Club were formed in 1890 and for the first five years of their existence were known as simply Yeovil Football Club.

The club then endured 108 years outside of the Football League before they were promoted as Conference champions in 2003.

During this time the club developed a reputation as FA Cup giant killers, most notably beating Sunderland before losing 8-0 to Manchester United in front of 81,000 spectators in 1949.

Alongside their exploits on the pitch, the Glovers even released their own single 'Yeovil True' in anticipation of their 2004 FA Cup clash against Liverpool, with the song reaching number 36 in the UK Singles Chart.

Having won the Southern Football League on three separate occasions, the club frequently applied for election to the Football League but were repeatedly unsuccessful – a decision which prompted the Somerset club to become founder members of the new national non-league division, the Conference, when it was formed in 1979.

In 1990, the club moved to their current home leaving former ground Huish, famous for its sloped pitch, where they had played football for 62 years.

The new ground had a capacity of 9,500, although the club's average attendance was less than a third of that during the first season the stadium was used.

The club then spent the following decade fluctuating between the Conference and the Isthmian Division until the appointment of Gary Johnson in 2001, with the Glovers winning the FA Trophy in his first full season, beating Stevenage 2-0 in the final.

The Glovers went from strength to strength under Johnson and won promotion to the Football League for the first time in their history the following year, securing the league championship with a total of 95 points, scoring 95 goals in the process.

Yeovil enjoyed a successful start to life in the Football League, finishing eight in their first season before being promoted to League One as Champions in their second.

Gary Johnson then left for pastures new in the form of rivals Bristol City, leaving Yeovil to experience mixed fortunes in League One over the next seven years.

Johnson then returned to the club in 2012, leading them to promotion via the Play-Offs with a 2-1 win over Brentford at Wembley in his first full season back as manager.

BOLTON STREET20 COMPETITION

Bolton Wanderers Community Trust recently hosted their annual Bolton Street20 tournament at Castle Hill Young Peoples Centre.

The Trust welcomed teams from across Bolton who had been involved in a 12 week delivery period by Community Cohesion Development Coordinator Richard Slater at venues local to the young people; these areas included Great Lever, Farnworth, Tonge, Little Lever, Johnson Fold and Halliwell.

The decision was taken that the teams would be split up and the young people would form teams with others that they may not know.

The youngsters were given the task of coming up with their own team names although apprehensive to begin with everyone soon came together once the competition began!

With a double round robin format set in place, every team was guaranteed at least eight games and this ensured all participants were given the chance to practice their cricketing skills that they had learnt throughout the last 12 weeks.

Almost all of the group stage matches played were close with many being decided in the last over.

The semi-finals were hard fought affairs between Castle Cricket, All Stars, Bayern Never Loosing and Five & Outers.

The final was competed between All Stars and suitably Bayern Never Loosing with the latter claiming victory to spark celebrations from the winning team as they were crowned 2013 Bolton Street20 Champions.

The two finalists will now represent Bolton in the National Street20 tournament which will be hosted at the prestigious Lords Cricket Ground in their indoor centre.

Speaking about the day, Street20 Coordinator Richard Slater said: "It was fantastic to see so many young lads from across Bolton not only compete against each other but also be part of the same teams in the tournament.

They all played with a great attitude and a great deal of respect for one another. I would like to thank Bolton Council for their assistance in the running of the tournament and ASDA for providing free lunch for everyone involved.

"I would like to congratulate the winning team and I look forward to taking the young people down to Lords to represent Bolton in the National Street20 tournament."

Wishing Geri King a Very Happy 50th Birthday

What you could have on this golden day new car, diamonds or flying away you could drink vintage wine or in top restaurants dine.

But when you see Eagles fly down the wing and Knight out to slay the opponents zing
yes, rather than go and seek the bright lights
What you want most is a win for the Whites!
So we'll raise a tall glass and make a toast to a top girl who we admire the most!

Lots of love on this Special Day from Andrew, Maria &
Phil, John, Anna & Chris and David and not forgetting

Throughout the course of the year, Bolton Wanderers International Soccer School coaches identify talented individuals at camps and clinics from around the world.

These players are then invited to compete at the Annual World Grand Skills Finals which are held at the Reebok Stadium, with this year being the sixth time that the club will have hosted the event.

This competition is where the best from each course come to compete in a series of football related challenges to find our World Grand Skills Champion, with the winner being offered a scholarship on the club's prestigious International Football Studies programme.

A fantastic opportunity for any youngster, this prize offers gifted players the chance to experience elite football coaching and life in another country, while the total immersion within a professional club enables players to develop within a fast paced European football environment.

Learning from both highly qualified coaches and their foreign peers, they also gain a high level of education including studying either a BTEC, A-Level or International Baccalaureate and English Language qualification at our state of the art training facilities.

The players will be housed in our Bolton Whites hotel and will be attending our home game against Ipswich Town in October.

SHEFFIELD WEDNESDAY

Sheffield Wednesday will be the next team to house the away dressing room at the Reebok Stadium next month as the Owls look to steer away from the lower reaches of the Championship.

The Owls, managed by former Southampton and Cardiff City boss Dave Jones, suffered their heaviest defeat of the season seven days ago as four goals from Manchester United loan star Jesse Lingard condemned the Hillsborough outfit to a 4-1 defeat at the hands of Birmingham City.

As Wanderers entertain Yeovil Town this afternoon, across the Pennines, Wednesday will play host to Yorkshire rivals Doncaster Rovers as they look for their first league victory of the campaign. So far things haven't gone according to plan for three time FA Cup winners as the Owls have lost three and drawn four of their opening seven games, as well as surprisingly being knocked out of the Capital One Cup against Rotherham.

Wednesday finished 18th last year just four points above the relegation zone, but will look to improve on that finish this season and climb into the higher reaches of the Championship. Over the summer, Jones has added to his squad by bringing in no less than seven new players, while also dipping his toes into the loan market to sign Roger Johnson from Wolverhampton Wanderers and Jordan Spence from West Ham United. Jeremy Helan signed for an undisclosed fee from Manchester United, while Jaques Maghoma and the experienced Stephen McPhail were recruited from Burton Albion and Cardiff City respectively.

Before venturing to BL6 next month the Owls face stern tests at Brighton & Hove Albion on Tuesday 1st October and a home tie against Mick McCarthy's Ipswich Town four days later.

Wanderers secured their first away league win at Hillsborough last season courtesy of goals from Marcos Alonso and a second half Mark Davies winner, but the Owls got their revenge last Boxing Day as Mamady Sidibe's strike separated the two sides at the Reebok Stadium.

Manager Dave Jones tells the Sheffield Star

"The Doncaster game gives us an opportunity to put things right. It will be difficult. One or two are just fighting their games at the moment. They've got to get on the ball and do things better than what they are doing. We have got to get a win. We are at home so we have got an opportunity.

"You can't be frightened. You've got to stand up and be counted and get on with it. We have got to make sure that we are strong and that the players stand there and put themselves on the line and be big and brave. We will find the players this week that will do that. The ones who don't want to do it won't be in the side.

"We are all in it together, everybody should take responsibility. We know what we have got to do. We have to find the players who will put their bodies on the line."
